

DOES STEEL TRUST OWN THE HARVESTER?

Sensational Report Given Committee of What Was Found Out in the Inquiry of 1908-9.

HARVESTER COMPANY GETS A REBATE

Washington, July 26.—Another document of sensational interest equal to the Steel Plate association agreement recently produced, was laid before the Stanley steel trust investigating committee today.

It was a report of Burdette Townsend to former Attorney General Bonaparte, during the Roosevelt administration, on the International Harvester company, the so-called trust.

The report showed that the United States Steel corporation allowed rebates of three dollars a ton to the harvester company, and Mr. Stanley declared that it indicated that the giant steel corporation and the harvester trust were practically one.

Wickersham a Witness.

Attorney General Wickersham, summoned as a witness this afternoon, testified that he had never seen the Townsend report until today. He promised that Townsend would testify before the committee.

He did not know why the harvester case was not pressed in 1908-09. "I am sure," he added, "that the case was held up pending the supreme court decision in the tobacco and Standard Oil case involving the same points."

Commissioner of Corporations Smith said his department had been investigating the International Harvester trust for several years, and will had men in the field to work. Chairman Stanley asked if Elbert H. Gary and George F. Johnson were not members of the board of directors of both corporations. "The commissioner presumed so. Other names suggested in the same capacity were George W. Perkins and Herman B. Hoar. "Four out of six of the board of the International Harvester company are on the board of the Steel corporation, are they not?"

"I think they appear as such in the records," said the commissioner.

Great Family of Trusts.

The Townsend report added that the McCormick Harvester company was "related by marriage to the great American family of trusts," the Standard Oil company. It also referred to J. Pierpont Morgan as "the trust architect, a good builder, who receives fabulous fees for his work."

In describing the organization of the group of larger companies in the Harvester combine, the McCormicks, Deering, Plano, Wardner, Bushnell, Gleason and the Milwaukee Harvester companies, Mr. Townsend reported to Mr. Bonaparte:

"It appears that there was an unusual concentration of the capital stock of these five companies. It was all owned and controlled by four families, the McCormicks, the Deerings, the Joneses and the Gleasons. The pooling of their holdings was all that was necessary to create a trust. All these people lived in Chicago."

"Another fact is interesting. Harold McCormick (one of the heavy stockholders of the McCormick company) is a son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller. The McCormick company was therefore already related by marriage to the great American family of trusts. J. Pierpont Morgan is the trust architect usually employed by the Rockefeller family. He is a good builder and receives fabulous fees for his work. George W. Perkins is his associate."

Representative Stanley, of Kentucky, chairman of the committee, introduced into the proceedings a voluminous report on the harvester trust, made to Mr. Bonaparte in 1908 by Burdette C. Townsend, a special investigator of the department, now assistant district attorney of Oregon.

Mr. Stanley announced that a subpoena had been issued for Mr. Bonaparte, who is now in Canada, and that an effort would be made to ascertain from him and from other government officers why there never was any prosecution of the International Harvester company upon Townsend's charges.

Will Show a Connection.

Mr. Stanley also announced his intention between the United States Steel corporation and the International Harvester company, and said he had read into the record the names of the directors of both corporations, the same being identical in many instances.

Mr. Townsend's report was exhaustive, going into the entire history of the Harvester companies involved and the organization of the International company in 1902, the transaction being directed and guided by J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. The steel committee will call attention to the forming of the steel trust the year before.

A feature of the Townsend report which the steel inquirers lay stress upon is the following:

"The International Harvester company sells to the foreign trade at a cheaper price than the domestic trade. It sells machines of all kinds for export, delivered at New York, at the same price for which they are sold to domestic purchasers. This makes a difference of from $5 to $10 per machine.

Rebates to Harvester Company.

"I was surprised to learn, while investigating the subject, that the 'steel trust' rebates to harvester companies $3 per ton for all steel used in the manufacture of machinery exported, thus giving the same result as if the steel had been imported, the import duty paid, and afterwards refunded under the drawback law; indicating that steel can be profitably produced in this country and sold at the foreign price. It justifies a small difference between the domestic and foreign prices, but it would amount to only a few cents for each machine, and in no way explains the difference indicated above."

Mr. Townsend detailed many other charges of violations.

"I have learned," he said, "of many alleged dishonest acts of the International Harvester company, such as legislative bribing, tax dodging, etc., some based on apparently authentic information, some on rumor."

These matters he submitted to enable the attorney general to determine whether there had been violations of the anti-trust law.

"In my judgment," the report concludes, "the facts concerning the organization of the International Harvester company constitute a violation of the anti-trust law."

Got $500,000 for a Suggestion.

Mr. Townsend in his report particularly referred to the price paid to J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. in the Harvester deal, declaring that $500,000 is a very high price for the simple service of suggesting to people how they can agree in a legitimate transaction.

"It is not unusual," he said, "on illegal transactions such as creating a trust which can evade the laws. Doubtless if proceedings were instituted against the International Harvester company the manner of its defense will demonstrate that the fee was earned."

In explaining the purchase by the International of the M. Osborn company in 1908 for $4,000,000; the Aultman-Miller & Co. for $700,000 in the same year; the Minneapolis Harvester company for $700,000 and the Keystone company for $460,000, Investigator Townsend reported:

Ownership Concealed.

"The manner of these purchases and the use made of the property show the purpose of the International Harvester company. Each of the purchases was made secretly in the name of some of its directors or stockholders, who held this stock in trust for it."

"The Osborn and Keystone companies were both operated for some time ostensibly as independent, competing plants; the International Harvester company concealed its ownership. Why? Was it not because they were conscious that its disclosures would give added testimony of their trust character and trust methods?"

"Again, the Aultman-Miller & Co. and the Minneapolis company were both abandoned immediately after the purchase and the plants dismantled. The purchase of these plants could have been for no other purpose than to destroy competition. One million, four hundred thousand dollars was expended to acquire plants which it did not intend to use, but simply to destroy."

"Bear in mind that in all of these instances, all patent rights were acquired and are still retained by the International Harvester company."

Kenyon and Smith Testify.

United States Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, former assistant attorney general, and Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations, testified before the house "steel trust" investigating committee today. Mr. Kenyon identified a report by Burdette Townsend to the department of justice on Mr. Townsend's investigation of the International Harvester company.

Mr. Kenyon said he recalled that investigation.

"But what is troubling me," he added, "is that I am not now connected with the department of justice and whatever I might say might embarrass the government on what may be now going on."

Chairman Stanley said he had evidence to show "that the Harvester company and Steel corporation are practically one."

"This report," he added, "charges that the Steel corporation gave the Harvester company rebates of $3 a ton."

Senator Kenyon, amid objections by republican members of the committee, spoke up, saying: "I wish to say that I always favored prosecutions in trust cases where evidence was conclusive. Where evidence was not conclusive, I favored further investigation."

Asked if he believed the Townsend report conclusive, Mr. Kenyon said he felt there had been some further investigation made.

Commissioner of Corporations Smith testified that he did not recall any instructions from the president to investigate the International Harvester company. The department of commerce and labor proceeded in accordance with a senate resolution by Senator Hausbrough or Senator Kittredge.

The secretary of state stood beside the president as he placed his name on the parchment.

"It's done," said Mr. Knox. "It's done," echoed the president as the two clasped hands across the desk.

Of the photographers a chance the president went through the motion of signing the act again a few seconds later.

"I didn't know there was so much interest in it as this," he said, "but—"

STOLEN HORSE IS FOUND IN DE KALB

Horse Thief Association
Aid to Get Elkhart
Animal.

ANOTHER IS STOLEN

Auburn, Ind., July 26.—Already the DeKalb County Horse Thief Detective association, recently organized by Sheriff R. L. Thomas, and composed of eight one-furmers of the county, is proving its worth. Monday a horse and buggy were stolen from the hitching racks on the streets of Elkhart, and Tuesday morning Sheriff Thomas received a card from the sheriff of Elkhart county, giving a description of the outfit. The DeKalb county sheriff immediately notified the members of the association to be on the lookout, giving them a description of the stolen animal. Tuesday evening Sheriff Thomas received a telephone call from Charles Arford, a member of the association, who lives in the eastern part of the county, saying that a horse answering the description of the stolen animal was found near his place. Mr. Thomas immediately got into communication with the Elkhart county official, and the latter came to this city last night. In company with Sheriff Thomas he went to the home of Mr. Arford, where he identified the horse as the one stolen from his city. The thief is on his way east with another horse stolen in the east part of DeKalb county, where he left the Elkhart animal, and the Ohio officials are on the lookout for him and it is believed that he will soon be apprehended.

MOROCCO AFFAIR UNITING PARTIES

Situation Begins to Have a Real Warlike Look in Old Europe.

London, July 26.—Threatening foreign complications are to some extent drawing attention from the constitutional crisis and a greater disposition was shown today by some of the last-ditch fighters to close up the ranks in the face of what is regarded here as German aggression. There seems to be no doubt that King George and the government have appealed to the leaders of the opposition to do everything possible to avoid further internal disruption so that the government may have the general support of all parties in dealing with the Moroccan tangle.

Lord Roseberry, who advocates the passing of the veto bill without forcing the creation of new barons, had a long conference with his majesty today. Roseberry and Viscount St. Aldwyn were steadily canvassing the stand-patters in the hope of effecting a peaceful adjustment of the political situation.

WHAT GERMANY GETS.

London, July 26.—That Germany will get compensation in South Africa as a result of her descent upon Agadir and in return for the free hand which France is seeking in Morocco, is conceded here, but it is also clear that Great Britain is not going to permit the establishment of a German naval base on the west coast of Africa, if she can prevent it.

Great Britain's great trade routes to South America, South Africa, India and the far east all pass within striking distance of Agadir, Morocco, and generations of British statesmen have maintained that to allow a possibly hostile power to establish itself on the flank of these lines of communication would be a vital menace to this country. There will be, however, no objections here to France giving compensation in the shape of a ratification of the Kamerun (German) and French Congo boundary, provided that it does not include a change of ownership of the coast line detrimental to this country.

Crisis is Approaching.

The activity of the foreign office today was again marked, the indications pointing to the near approach of a stage where the crisis either will become acutely virulent or begin to dissolve.

The composition of the group of ministers actively handling the situation, Premier Asquith, Sir Edward Grey, secretary of foreign affairs, and Chancellor Lloyd-George, the latter representing the radical part of the cabinet, shows that the British government is solid, while the fact that Sir Francis Bertie, the British ambassador to France, and Paul Cambon, the French ambassador at London, have been called into the conference, proves the continued solidarity of the Anglo-French entente.

Spanish King There.

King Alfonso, too, appeared on the scene today, having arrived at Portsmouth on the Spanish royal yacht Giraldia and immediately coming to London, where he conferred with Sir Edward Grey.

King George is remaining in town and messengers pass frequently between the two monarchs.

State Board of Charities of Plainfield.

MORE FUNDS NEEDED

Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—The report of Guy C. Hanna, superintendent of the state school for boys at Plainfield, Ind., outlining the needs of the school, which are of long standing, was read today at the quarterly meeting of the board of state charities, held here.

The report was made to Governor Marshall some time ago and he held the needs to be due to the failure of the general assembly to appropriate sufficient funds to keep the school going as it should.

The governor, as chairman ex-officio of the board, is considering the installing of a resident physician and reporting to surgery for the benefit of some of the backward inmates.

Secretary A. W. Butler, of the board, also presented his reports, showing the gross maintenance for all state institutions for the six months ending March 31, was $1,194,822.11.

The average daily food costs per capita for the charitable and educational institutions for the period was 14 1/2 cents and for the correctional and penal institutions it was 10 1/2 cents.

The report also contains a review of the operations of the state poor law since its enactment in 1897.

KEELEY AND HANECY MIX

Editor of Tribune and Lorimer's Attorney
Clash Often.

LORIMER HEARING ON THE BY-PATHS

Tribune's Motives and Its Methods Searched by the Lawyer.

Washington, July 26.—Clash after clash between witness and attorney occurred again today at the senate hearing during the cross examination of James Keeley, general manager and editor of the Chicago Tribune, by Senator Lorimer's counsel.

The proceedings largely centered around the publication of the so-called confession of State Representative Charles A. White, of the Illinois legislature. Mr. Hanecy asked if the Tribune engaged Alfred Austrian for its counsel in the White-Lorimer matter because of any close relation of Austrian's firm to the state's attorney's office in Chicago, from which many indictments in the matter had emanated. Mr. Keeley responded that Mr. Austrian was employed by the Tribune as its counsel long before the White confession or the Lorimer election ever came up.

Smiling one minute and irritated the next Mr. Keeley countered on many of the pointed questions.

Tribune Affairs.

How Gov. Altgeld pardoned former Cashier Louis A. Hillier of the Chicago Tribune, convicted of embezzlement, and the claim that knowledge of undervaluation of the Tribune's property for assessment might have been a factor in the young man's fall figured at the outset of the hearing today. Attorney Hanecy, for Lorimer, continued the cross-examination of James Keeley, general manager of the Tribune. He submitted in evidence that Hillier's pardon, in which the governor said the cashier's moral courage might have been weakened by seeing that the Tribune failed to pay, by about $25,000 a year, enough rent for school lands it occupied and also that it undervalued its property so that it paid $22,000 a year too little in taxes.

Merely an Accident.

The Tribune's printing of an item about the opening of "Lorimer's bank" at the end of the White confession story was taken up.

Mr. Keeley insisted that the juxtaposition of the Lorimer bank item and the White story was accidental.

Mr. Hanecy asked about the sending out of detectives and reporters to strengthen "the White story."

"We didn't send them out to strengthen the story and I have not said so. It was to investigate it."

"Well you put it any way you want. Strengthen, corroborate and investigate are synonyms in this case. Analyze, parse and diagram them if you want to."

FORBIDS GIRL'S TRANCE.

Greek Orthodox Priest Holds Spiritualism is Against Teachings.

Ithaca, N. Y., July 26.—Declaring that spiritualism is against the teachings of the Orthodox Greek church, Rev. Demetrius Petrides, of Philadelphia, put a stop to the trance which Helen Chacona, the 16-year-old sister of John N. Chacona, was advertised to undergo, following a big business service here last night. The trance did not manifest itself until late in the night, after other festivities had concluded. Seventy-five Greeks from New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio were present to receive "messages from God" when the priest interfered. Chacona believes his sister is under divine power as he claims she has made some startling revelations.

ACCUSES HER SPOUSE.

South Bend, Ind., July 26.—Mrs. Ruth Carter Hughes, aged 20, and beautiful, wanted by federal authorities and the Chicago Woman's club, because of a plea by her husband, Eugene H. Hughes asking that she be found and given protection until he is released from the Utah prison. Today filed suit for divorce here. She alleges abandonment and alleges her husband is a "white-slaver."

MORE STRIKE VIOLENCE.

Chicago, Ill., July 26.—Violence was roused today in the peddlers' strike. Wagons were overturned and securities destroyed in various parts of the city, the persons suffering being chiefly hucksters who had declined to quit attempting to make sales while the strike was going on. The peddlers are seeking to compel the repeal of an ordinance that prohibits yelling and other excessive noise in the streets.

One policeman was severely slashed with a banana knife while rescuing a non-striking peddler. He fired several shots into the air before he dispersed the crowd.

Standpat Leaders Tell Mr.
Taft No New Schedule

INSURGENTS IN PLAN TO GET IT

May Tack Revision on the Free List Bill and Put It Through.

Washington, July 26.—Information came to President Taft from republican senate leaders that he need have no anxiety over the possibility of action at this session of congress on a bill revising the wool schedule of the present tariff.

Senators Smoot, of Utah, and Crane, of Massachusetts, two of the leaders who talked with the president today, predicted the adjournment of congress August 10 with all wool revision bills defeated.

On the heels of these predictions, however, came rumors from the capitol that an attempt would be made by insurgent senators to tack an amendment revising the wool schedule on farmers' free list bill. Wool is to be voted on in the senate tomorrow, the farmers' free list comes up Aug. 1.

According to the regular senators, the LaFollette wool bill will not be supported by the democrats and the democratic wool bill cannot be accepted by the insurgents.

The insurgents' plan, however, today was to tack the farmers' free list bill, with the amendment for wool revision, into conference with the aid of the democrats, and out of the conference they hope to get a compromise measure.

MEIGS EYESIGHT SPECIALIST

LYRIO THEATER BLDG. 1012 Calhoun Street.

HURT IN WRECK 22 YEARS AGO

Julian E. Perriguy Dies After Long Period of Invalidism.

THE DEATHS TODAY

Victim of a railroad wreck in 1889, Julian E. Perriguy, 51 years old, died at 4:45 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home, 612 Sturdivant street, after a lapse of twenty-two years in which he had been an almost helpless invalid. Originally a brakeman on the Nickel Plate railroad, Mr. Perriguy suffered complete paralysis of the lower limbs, but in later years learned to walk with the aid of a cane and to handle shoes and in this manner fought against the tremendous handicap of his crippled condition.

Mr. Perriguy was born and reared in Fort Wayne, coming of early French pioneer parents. He was educated in the Brothers' school, and took employment as a fireman on the Nickel Plate railroad. On Nov. 23, 1889, the "light" engine on which Perriguy was running collided with a freight train at Argos, the freight having overrun its orders. Perriguy was frightfully injured, his conductor, "Tug" Wilson, was killed and other members of the train crew badly hurt. Mr. Perriguy suffered a broken back, and while he made partial recovery from this, he was a helpless paralytic for the remainder of his days.

He was united in marriage Sept. 15, 1888, at the Cathedral to Miss Margaret Schank, who survives with one son, Harry Perriguy, now timekeeper for the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad. There are five sisters and two brothers—Mrs. Lena DeGregory and Miss Isabella Perriguy, of Detroit, and Mrs. George Jordan, Mrs. Charles Getz and Mrs. Joseph E. Getz, and Frank and Theodore Perriguy, of this city. The deceased was a lifelong member of the Cathedral congregation and had many friends.

Funeral services Saturday morning at 8:30 from the residence and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral.

BOWSMAN.

Mrs. Imogene L. Bowsman, wife of Harry O. Bowsman, a draughtsman for the Kerr-Murray Manufacturing company, died at 4:40 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the family home, 720 Colerick street, at the age of 44 years. Death was due to apoplexy, from which she had been suffering for some time.

Mrs. Bowsman was born in Freedom, Owen county, and the family came to Fort Wayne some years ago. Surviving relatives include the husband, a son and a daughter, James and Margaret Bowsman. There is one brother, Bradford Landrum, of Jamesville.

The remains will be taken to Pendleton for funeral services and interment.

SCHMITT.

Philip Schmitt, a pioneer resident of Allen county, died very suddenly from an apopleptic seizure at 9 o'clock this morning at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Philip Weiling, six miles southeast of New Haven.

Mr. Schmitt was 71 years of age. He arose this morning, apparently in good health, ate his breakfast as usual and took a brief walk about the yard. A little later he entered the house and in a few moments was found in a dying condition in his chair. Dr. Morse Harrod, deputy coroner, was summoned and rendered a finding of death in accordance with the above facts. Mr. Schmitt's wife died two years ago.

SAUERS.

Mrs. David Sauers, of Springfield township, died Monday morning. The surviving relatives are the husband and two children and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. M. Bender, of Crestline, Ohio; George Bauman, of Cedarville, and William H. Bauman, of Colorado.

The funeral was held today and the interment was in Scipio cemetery.

SNUG SALOON TO BE LOOKED INTO

Pearl Haskell Testifies Beer Was Bought in the Back Room.

OATES GOES OVER HAS BEEN MISSING

Following the testimony of Pearl Haskell in the city court today that she and a fellow giving the name of William Wilkins bought beer and paid for it in a room in the rear of the Snug saloon, on West Main street, Chief of Police Abbott announced that he would file today an affidavit against Marion Wyatt, the proprietor, charging him with maintaining a blind tiger.

A short time ago Fred Bohne, who gave his occupation as a bartender in the place, paid two times for selling to a couple of boys and a woman in the same room and the Haskell girl stated today that Frank Kirkendall, whose occupation is given in the directory as manager for Marion Wyatt, sold her and her companion beer.

She was in on a charge of public intoxication and plead guilty and was let go with a warning. Wilkins contradicted her and said he paid for the beer at the bar. He was held until tomorrow under a bond of $100. He was formerly a bartender in the saloon.

Oates is Held.

Al Oates, the negro porter who promoted an exodus at the Summit City restaurant Monday, when he appeared with a big revolver, was held on a charge of assault with intent to kill and went to the circuit court under a bond of $500.

He started the row because he was sore at the fact that two waiters in the place made fun of him while he was washing windows. He went to jail.

The Other Cases.

Foster Curry, who was carrying a big revolver for the purpose of protecting funds of a negro club, of which he was treasurer, was fined $15 and costs.

Robert Fleming, picked up by the police on a charge of loitering, is being held for a week under a bond of $500 while the police are investigating to find out whether or not he is wanted in some other city for crime.

GOVERNOR COMES NORTH.

Will Stop at Auburn and Then Go On Vacation.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 25.—Governor Marshall, accompanied by his wife, mother, Mrs. W. E. Kinsey, of Pleasant Lake, Ind., and Miss Edna Broughton, of Waterloo, Ind., left today for his annual vacation. The governor will stop at Auburn, Ind., where he will make an address tomorrow at the laying of the corner stone of the De Kalb county courthouse. Mrs. Marshall, her mother and Miss Broughton continued today to Petoskey, Mich., where they will be joined later by the governor. Governor Marshall expects to spend a month or six weeks at Petoskey, if business in his office will permit.

GUARD LEAVES CAMP.

Ten Days' School at Fort Benjamin Harrison is Ended.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 25.—The ten days' encampment of the national guard came to an end today and the troops began moving homeward at noon. By midnight the military city at Fort Benjamin Harrison, where the encampment was held, will be practically deserted.

The only feature that marked the last days of the encampment was the arrest of the thirty-two members of the Second infantry of Marion, Ind., for their refusal to go into line with the regulars. The general court martial with Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Louden, of Bloomington, presiding, which General McKee ordered, will sit in Marion to conclude its hearing.

The general health of the 1,800 men who were in camp was good, according to medical officers. Only twenty-six were reported on the sick list.

George F. Hess has just been appointed superintendent of motive power of the Kansas City Southern, with headquarters at Pittsburg, Kansas. Hess, the veteran machinist in that both the Franco-American and Anglo-American general arbitration treaties can be made ready for signature by Saturday or Monday next. A few technical adjustments remain to be made in the text of the French treaty and these are now being wrought out at the state department, which is in constant cable communication with Paris.

MADE DISTRICT MANAGER.

W. O. Rayburn, formerly of Bedford, Ind., who has been doing special duty work in this city for two years for the American Insurance Union, of Columbus, Ohio, has been promoted to the position of district manager for the order with headquarters in Fort Wayne. During the year 1910 the national office urged their men to produce a certain amount of business for each month in the year and Mr. Rayburn was one of those who succeeded in doing this. His many friends here are glad to learn of his promotion.

OFFERED FORGED CHECKS AT FARGO

Man Thought to Be Hunt M. Comporet in Trouble in Dakota.

NO MORE WARNINGS

Replying to an inquiry from the Commercial bank at Fargo, N. D., today, officers of the German-American National bank of this city declared that a check for $1,000 purporting to bear the signature of H. C. Berghoff, of this city, which was offered at the Fargo bank, was a forgery. It was declared, also, that the certification was likewise forged.

Later the Fargo bank telegraphed that the man presenting the bad check is under arrest in that city and the description leads Fort Wayne bankers to believe it is Hunt M. Comporet, a young man who formerly conducted a real estate agency in this city. Following Comporet's sudden disappearance from Fort Wayne a few weeks ago two or three local banks filed suits against him to recover money. While in Fort Wayne Comporet had an office in the Shoup building. He is badly crippled.

AVONDALE HOME BURNS TO GROUND

News Broken to Mistress Who is Ill at Hope Hospital.

LOSS PUT AT $2,000

While lying in a very critical condition at Hope hospital, Mrs. William Jones, of South Lafayette, was notified of the fact that her home burned to the ground this morning.

About 3:45 this morning the fire was discovered in the Jones home. No one was occupying the house, and the origin of the flames is unknown. Five fighting apparatus from departments 2 and 8 were called to the scene of the conflagration, but as the house stands two blocks outside of the city limits, the streams thrown on the blaze were very weak.

Very little could be saved and the building is almost a total ruin. The loss is estimated at $2,000, but this is almost covered by the insurance of $1,800, which Mr. Jones carried on the property. The house stands in what is known as Avondale.

BERGER AT WHITE HOUSE.

Socialist Member Pleads With Taft for Boy's Liberty.

Washington, July 25.—Victor Berger, the socialist congressman from Wisconsin, paid his first visit to the white house today. He asked the president to pardon a Texas youth, Dewey Carter, of Beaumont. Carter is serving a five year sentence for stealing five dollars while employed by the postoffice department. Mr. Berger declared that children should not be employed by the government. President Taft will consider Carter's case.

Mr. Berger also asked the president to take some action toward allowing letter carriers to perform their duties in their shirt sleeves. The president, Mr. Berger said, promised to act.

The Electro Technic band will this evening give the third of its weekly free park concerts, and the program tonight will be at Hayden park. Some confusion has arisen in the public mind as to the location of the concert, but it will be given at Hayden park as originally announced.

WILL SOON SIGN TREATIES.

Washington, July 25.—It is believed here that both the Franco-American and Anglo-American general arbitration treaties can be made ready for signature by Saturday or Monday next. A few technical adjustments remain to be made in the text of the French treaty and these are now being wrought out at the state department, which is in constant cable communication with Paris.

WOMAN KILLS INTRUDER.

Patfield, Ill., July 25.—Mrs. Randolph Holman, a divorcee of Cigau, near here, shot and killed "Bud" Shehorn, a stock buyer, while he, according to the woman, was trying to enter her house. She said she told him not to enter. Mrs. Holman is the mother of three children. Shehorn is survived by a widow and several children.

BEAUMONT WINS RACE.

Brooklands, England, July 25.—A Beaumont (Lionel De Courcey) won the $50,000 prize offered by the London Daily Mail for the circuit of Great Britain aviation race of 1,010 miles. The Frenchman reached the finish here at 2:07 o'clock this afternoon, making a splendid "volplane" from a height of 1,000 feet.

GOVERNOR ORDERS ACTION.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 25.—Through his legal clerk, Bert New, Governor Marshall today ordered C. E. Greenwood, prosecuting attorney of Lake county, to begin an investigation of alleged illegal sales of liquor at Cedar Lake, a summer resort.

The "City Packard band" will play for a social to be given Friday evening at the corner of Winter and Eliza streets.

FIX UP GARBAGE OR PAY PENALTY

Judge Mungovan Hands Out Half a Dozen Fines to Offenders.

NO MORE WARNINGS

Householders must fix up their garbage in accordance with the laws of the city or pay the penalty. Thus spoke Judge Frank Mungovan in the city court today as he assessed half a dozen fines.

The offenders were Alfred Regis, Saddle Shadden, Frank Drage, Elizabeth Long, Dennis Lynch and R. M. Bender and each settled or promised to before the day is over.

Heretofore Judge Mungovan has been warning people who were brought before him that they must comply with the law requiring that garbage be kept in a sanitary manner, but little heed has been paid to the warnings and the judge decided on a little more drastic way of dealing with the others.

Sufficient notice, he thinks, has been given the public in the campaign by the city health department and he says there is no excuse for people who have not taken the precaution required of them.

Conditions in the city are much better than they have ever been and only here and there do the sanitary officers find that the laws are being violated.

Faust, Fairy, Friday.

CAUGHT HIS HOUSE ON THE RUN

When a Mortgage Was Foreclosed Movers Were Called.

(New York American.) ... When Isidore Marcus of the Bronx foreclosed a second mortgage for $1,200 that he held against the property at 1152 Wyatt avenue several days ago, he decided to go around and take a look at his new possession.

Mr. Marcus holds many mortgages and he didn't know exactly what manner of house this was.

To his amazement when he reached the address there was no house to be seen.

There was a cellar and an old foundation and other evidences of the recent presence of the house. So Mr. Marcus made inquiry around the neighborhood and learned that until early Friday morning the site had contained a two-story and attic house, and that it had been moved away.

"What?" Marcus said, "somebody stolen my house! Which way did it go?" They told him it went up Wyatt avenue and turned off at Bronx Park avenue.

Marcus started after it on the double quick and overtook the house four blocks away. It was creeping along slowly on rollers and was destined, according to John Garvey, the housemover, who was on the job, for a site in One Hundred and Eighty street, near Bronx Park avenue.

"You'd better take that house back to where you got it," Marcus said. "It belongs to me."

"Go to tell that to Sweeney," said the house-mover.

"Sweeney is not my lawyer," said Marcus. "His name is Gans. I'll tell it to him."

Marcus rushed to a telephone and called up Mr. Gans, who has an office at 110 Nassau street. He gave Mr. Gans the full particulars, including the name of the most recent owner, the City and County contracting company.

Mr. Gans went to the supreme court, obtained an injunction restraining the City and County contracting company from removing the building, and had it served Saturday night.

Since that time the house has stood, blocking the street from curb to curb, in the midst of a lot of pretty little cottages, whose occupants like fresh air and light.

THE TWO FRAUDS.

In the Metropolitan theater the house physician has a seat given him for each performance. He is supposed to be there every evening. Naturally, there comes a time when the play begins to pall on him. One evening not long ago the stage manager of a local playhouse rushed down the aisle to the doctor's seat, and whispered: "Come back at once—the leading lady has had an attack."

In the lady's dressing room all was confusion. "What'll we do, Doc?" cried the stage manager.

"Have you poured water on her head?"

"Yes—a whole bucket—out of the one that says 'Not to be used except in case of fire.'"

"Then don't pour any more—I fear you have made a fatal mistake. Run out to the drug store and get this 'Aid.'"

"When they had run out the lady opened her eyes. 'Doc,' she gasped, 'you're a good fellow, ain't you? I know you know there's nothing the matter with me. I want a day off and I don't want to go on in this act. Can you fix it?'

"I sure can," he answered, wringing her hand sympathetically. "I ain't a doctor—I came in on his ticket. We'll fix it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

VIA THE BLUE PASTEBOARD.

A circus now reformed, was once conspicuous for its crafters and grating methods, says the Chicago Evening Post. The red wagon men were expert short-changers, and everybody connected with the show was a stealer for the crooked games.

It was necessary to have someone spot the man with money, and nobody was so useful in this capacity as the ticket seller. When a man displayed a roll in paying his way in the ticket seller would reach over and stick a blue pastebord in the hand of him to "the feeding of the animals."

The blue decoration put all the crooks on, and if the visitor got away without being trimmed it was because he was a wise one.

Miss Emma Black left Monday to attend the Weather league convention at Leominster.

COMMITTEE PLANS
OLD SETTLERS' DAY

August 17 to Be Great Day for Columbia City—Speakers Have Been Chosen.

Columbia City, Ind., July 26.—Arrangements for Old Settlers' day, August 17, are fast nearing completion, and by the latter part of the week everything will have been arranged for this big event. The officers of the association held a meeting Monday evening at which time they decided upon several of the principal speakers for the day and some of the special prizes that are to be offered were also decided upon.

According to the plan adopted the welcome address will be delivered by Attorney D. V. Whitefeather. The presentation speeches—that of awarding the loving cups, one for the oldest settler residing in the county and present on this day, and one for the oldest settler registering on this day, will be made by Walpole Kaler, of this city. The principal addresses of the day will be delivered by Judge Walter Olds, of Fort Wayne, and Judge R. K. Erwin, of the same city, each speaker to speak not longer than thirty minutes. Both are orators of reputation and they will without question be able to entertain the old settlers in an able manner.

The automobile parade, will be one of the principal features of the day, and in connection with this the committee in charge is making an effort to land a number of other amusements for the benefit of the guests on this day.

The occasion will be enlivened throughout the day by music rendered by three bands—Columbia City, Ellettsville and Lauder. The baseball games each morning and afternoon will be further attractions. Rubber and South Whitley battling in the morning contest and the winner to play the Columbia City Grays in the afternoon.

FIRE DESTROYS COUNTRY STORE

Columbia City, Ind., July 26.—A fire destroyed the country store building and contents of Charles Arnold Monday night. The store was located north of Loraine in Troy township and was started about a year ago. The proprietor and Charles Coyle left the store about 10 o'clock at night and went to their respective homes. A half hour later Josse DePoy, who had been calling at Anderson's during the evening, discovered the fire on his way home and notified Mr. Arnold. The owner resides about fifteen rods from the store, but before he could get to it the flames had made such progress that nothing could be saved.

THREE GOVERNORS WILL BE PRESENT

Harmon, Wilson and Marshall Are to Watch Big Spectacular Battle.

Marion, Ind., July 26.—It is now almost assured that the governors of three states, Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio, will be in this city during the week of August 14, when a production of the battle of the Mississippian will be given at Goldthwaite park under the auspices of the Battle Ground Memorial association, composed of citizens of Grant, Wabash and Miami counties interested in preserving historical facts.

Governor Wilson, of Kentucky, has written that he probably can come. Governor Harmon, through his private secretary, has written that he hopes to return from his vacation in time to be present, and Governor Marshall while he will be on his vacation at Petoskey, Mich., will make a special trip to Marion to be present at the re-enactment of the battle that was fought in 1812 between the Indians and white soldiers in the wilderness along the Mississippian river at a point not far from the Grant, Wabash and Miami county lines.

The Kentucky and Ohio governors are interested in the presentation of the spectacle because the soldiers taking part in the enactment came from their states. It is probable that an excursion will be run to Marion from Greenville, O., from which place Colonel Campbell and his brave soldiers marched in the dead of winter in reaching Grant county, Indiana, where the bloody battle with the redskins took place. It is expected that not less than 30,000 people will visit Marion during the week of August 14.

WANTED—A DEAD HORSE.

New Incinerating Plant at Huntington to Be Tested Saturday.

Huntington, Ind., July 26.—Wanted—One dead horse. Further information from prospective donors may be obtained from Street Commissioner Ed Smith or any of the Huntington city officials. The reason for this unusual request on the part of councilmen and others is that the new incinerating plant now in progress of construction is to be completed before the end of a week and a series of tests have been set for Saturday. No test can be complete without reduction of the body of a horse. Hence the search for an old plug worth nothing better than to demonstrate the value of the incinerator as a garbage disposal plant.

The council intends to have no part of the tests lacking and have given out the word that a horse's body must be on hand. As the job is one which looks good to no one else, it is only natural that it should be hoisted upon the street commissioner. Smith says he cannot be sure that a horse will die at the time desired unless reduced by the use of a rifle. This course might lead to the necessity of reimbursing the owner of the plug selected. All in all, the problem is a perplexing one and Smith is scouting around looking for some feeble animal which looks as though he might pass away in the next few days.

NEWSPAPERS CONSOLIDATE.

A stock company, with the present owners and a number of business men and other citizens as stockholders, is being organized to take over the properties of the two offices and merge them into one. The company will be known as The Kendallville Publishing company, incorporated under the laws of the state, with a capitalization of $16,000.

KILLED BY LIVE WIRE.

Goshen, Ind., July 26.—Chester Bailey, an employee of the Hawks Milling company, of this city, was killed yesterday forenoon. Bailey was at work on top of the engine shed, painting the metal roof, when his right hand accidentally came in contact with a live wire above him. The wire and the metal upon which he was standing formed a circuit, causing him to receive a shock of sufficient voltage to kill him. Drs. Becknell and Ash were called and later Drs. Kirby and Edwards were also summoned and for an hour and a half efforts were made to resuscitate him, but it was found to be of no avail. It is probable that the shock killed him instantly.

EXCURSION MONEY DIVIDED.

Bluffton, Ind., July 26.—The local committee that had the union Sunday school excursion to Toledo in charge has completed its final settlements and distributed the profits of the enterprise among the schools interested. In every way the excursion was a grand success, netting each of the schools a nice sum to augment the receipts of their several treasuries, and from the beginning everything was harmonious and pleasant.

S.S.S. A BLOOD MEDICINE FOR YOUNG OR OLD

The majority of human ailments are caused by impure blood, because weak, polluted blood deprives the system of its necessary strength and disease-resisting powers. Children do not develop perfectly, nor are they strong and robust unless the blood is pure and strong, while old people are afflicted with Rheumatism and other chronic troubles because of a weakened circulation. S.S.S. cures every ailment which comes from impure or diseased blood, it tones up and regulates every portion of the system and creates an abundant supply of nourishing properties with which to build up the blood. S.S.S. is absolutely free from harmful drugs and minerals, and is therefore the purest and safest blood medicine for young or old. S.S.S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Malaria, Blood Poison, and all other blood disorders. Book on the blood and any medical advice free. S.S.S. is sold at drug stores. KEEPING THE CITY CLEAN.

Something like a start toward a solution of Fort Wayne's garbage problem has been made by the city council. To meet present conditions so far as may be it is proposed to repair the old crematory and enforce a more punctual collection of garbage. Meanwhile, the board of public works is expected to gather information from other cities as to approved methods of collecting and disposing of city waste. The special committee of the council is to hold another meeting to-night jointly with the board of public works to further discuss the garbage question. It is to be hoped there will be a full attendance of the committee and the board and that a sincere effort will be made to get forward in the direction of a permanent solution of the problem.

It is proper and wise to make some expenditure to meet present emergencies, but the purpose should be to dispense with the old crematory at as early a day as a new plant can be chosen and installed. There should be no thought of continuing the crematory in the present location. Nor should there be any purpose to choose a new system of disposing of waste before thoroughly investigating the most modern methods. The problem of municipal waste includes not only the disposal of garbage, but of ashes, rubbish and litter. Let these phases of the problem be looked into and see if while Fort Wayne is trying to take care of garbage as it should be steps may not be taken to vouchsafe that the city shall in all respects be kept clean.

The cities which have succeeded notably in measures of cleanliness have found the way of doing it at less cost to the public than was entailed by old and inefficient methods. Fort Wayne wants this problem correctly solved now that the municipal government has gone at it.

There is now bruited some fear that Canada will be slow to ratify the trade agreement just approved in the congress of the United States. It is pointed out that the Canadians are suspicious that the measure may not be of a sort to promote true reciprocity. This distrust is said to have been bred in the fact that the bill had non-partisan support in Washington, the Canadians taking the not unnatural view that any proposal that could command support of both parties in this country must have in it something that will give this nation an advantage. It is true enough that the spectacle of democrats and republicans uniting in a tariff measure is unusual and calculated to provoke a careful search for motives. However, our brothers over the border doubtless will be convinced in due time that the game has been squarely played on this side.

When garbage gathering is made a household help, which it should be, and not a household annoyance, which in this city it now is, there will be general and cheerful co-operation of the household with the garbage man. Regular and frequent collection of household refuse encourages the housewife to be diligent and punctual in having her refuse ready for the collector and to adopt all suggested practicable means for making the assemblage of domestic waste thorough and for keeping the garbage depository clean. The root of the trouble here is in the city's own negligence. Conditions will not improve until the city is prepared to do all it should do. When it is, the garbage ordinances will go far to enforce themselves.

It seems quite probable that some one of the wool tariff bills now before the senate will be passed. The house bill has, of course, the right of way on the democratic side of the chamber, but there is at the same time a disposition to support the La Follette bill if the democratic measure cannot command the necessary republican votes to pass it. Either bill will afford relief and it is doubtful if the president will veto either if passed, though some weeks ago he indicated that he was strongly opposed to any legislation on the tariff beyond what was embraced in the Canadian bill until the tariff board could present a report next winter. The senate is under agreement to vote tomorrow on the democratic bill.

Also, it is pertinent to reflect, if a heavy of London suffragettes had attempted to disturb parliament as the opposition disturbed it riotously under the leadership of that rowdy lordling, Hugh Cecil, they would have been borne off pickaback to prison by the police. Still, it must be said that the opposition have nothing on their suffragettes sisters in the mere matter of noisy disorder.

The strength of insurgency has been over estimated or the insurgents of Nebraska have been caught napping.

In the state convention of the republicans the administration forces took possession and did not give the La Follette faction even a solitary look. The Taft administration was endorsed in warm terms and the insurgents were given no opportunity at any stage of the proceedings to make even a show of fight. Insurgency in Nebraska may simply have failed to take note that a convention was coming and neglected to prepare for it. In which case, the quality of Nebraska insurgency appears to be considerably discounted.

To those who have said Edward Hines is another add the name of former Congressman Boutell, now minister to Switzerland. Boutell affirms that he never reported President Taft as specially interested in the Lorimer candidacy for the senate and that he never wrote a note to Hines requesting that it be made known to Lorimer that he (Boutell) was the only man who had gone to the white house in behalf of the blond boss and "brought off the goods." There's nothing left for Hines to do but to pitchfork the diplomat into the Ananias club along with Taft, Aldrich, Funk, Kohlsaat and the other distinguished company.

Mexico has just ended a civil war. Haiti and Persia have domestic wars in progress and Portugal seems to be getting ready to open for a season of like hilarity. The world is restless, but these affairs for the most part appear to have more definite designs on the public exchequer than the promotion of the spirit and institutions of democracy.

All those cities which have succeeded in solving the problem of municipal waste have found some means by which the cost of it may be borne wholly or in part by the economies of the system adopted. Fort Wayne can profit by what others have learned and the cost of that knowledge will be no more than bare expense of going to the sources of information.

New York court decrees that Nat Goodwin shall never again marry while Edna Goodrich lives and Edna certainly not long since was too young to know better. It is a cruel and unusual punishment for the world's champ matrimonialist at all ages, weights and distances. There can be no other expectation than that the oppressed man will defy the court.

Somehow the fools who persist in going over Niagara Falls in a barrel all escape with their lives and most of their bones. Perhaps it isn't half the feat the bellowing, tumbling grandeur of Niagara makes it appear.

If Mr. Jobailyoftexas feels like resigning some more the provocation is greater and the occasion riper than ever before in his whole career as a resigner.

One new garbage plant; one new system for giving it plenty to do. That's all.

LAFOLLETTE ON NEWSPAPERS AND RECIPROCITY.

(Chicago Record-Herald.)
Senator LaFollette has on more than one occasion harshly ascribed newspaper advocacy of the reciprocity bill to the publishers' selfish "monetary interest" in it—or in the pulp and print paper provisions. A frank word on this point may not be out of place here, and the senator will appreciate perfect candor, we are sure. Speaking for itself, The Record-Herald and its predecessors have fought for every reciprocity treaty that has been negotiated since trade extension and tariff reduction became vital issues. Reciprocity has been vigorously advocated in these pages through defeat and victory, regardless of partisan and special interests. It has been advocated on broad economic and national grounds.

Was there any impropriety in similarly advocating the Canadian treaty? Did not consistency and honesty enjoin such advocacy? Would not silence or lukewarmness have been ridiculous and affected? Was it necessary stiffly and awkwardly to lean backward? Was there anything else in the bill? Is not forest conservation a genuine and important issue with us? As to the monetary interest of the press, Senator LaFollette cannot be unaware of the fact that what troubles publishers is not this or that rate of duty on paper, but the future supplies of pulp. With our population reading habits and limitless demand for newspapers and cheap weeklies and magazines, where is the supply of pulp and print paper to come from? Not from the American forests, assuredly, at our present rate of their destruction.

To draw on the practically untouched and inexhaustible Canadian forests is certainly plain sense and plain national interest. Conservationists who have never had a dollar in newspapers or the publishing business have urged this policy. Would not the newspapers have been guilty of egregious folly and cowardice if their interest in one aspect of the reciprocity bill had caused them to ignore everything else and preserve a self-conscious, embarrassed silence? Senator LaFollette, on reflection, will agree that this would have been silly and insincere.

WHEN CONFIDENCE IS LOST.

(Pittsburg Post.)
When an employer loses confidence in an employee that individual's value ceases instantly. He can be of no further use in his line of service, and for his own good, as well as that of the firm, there is but one logical course, and that is to get out and make way for one who can be trusted.

This same rule applies to political parties, and just now the people of this country have lost confidence in the republicans. It is not a mere weakening of public faith, a belief that a temporary lapse of reliability has occurred, and that it can be overcome with little effort. On the contrary it is a feeling that trusts can be no longer placed on those who formulate the policies and lead this former great party—it is a total loss of confidence, a realization that it has outlived its period of usefulness, and has entered on its final course of decadence. The American people have been patient to a fault with the republican organization, and have been disposed to overlook many of its shortcomings in the past. But at last their mind has been made up; they can no longer take seriously the promises or the policies that it submits for their consideration. With confidence gone its value ceases.

For this reason the people of this country are looking to the democratic party as the one on which they can rely for the safe administration of their affairs. Realizing the failure of the republican tariff policy, they turn the other way with a request for reform; there is a growing belief that the democratic party can be trusted to undo the wrongs from which the country has suffered, and to legislate directly in the interests of the common people, who have borne a heavy burden for years. For if they fail history will repeat itself. The present house of representatives has done a good work and the public approves, and the signs of the times point to a general rally to the standard of democracy in every state of the Union. Let the party show that this display of public confidence has not been misplaced.

THE EMANCIPATION OF THE GARBAGE CAN

By DR. P. M. HALL,
Commissioner of Health, Minneapolis, Minn.

Garbage collection and garbage disposal have been treated of, in a general way, so many times that it would seem that the last word had been said. Instead of handling this great subject in a general way now, probably more can be learned by taking up some phase of the subject in detail. I will, therefore, confine this paper to the discussion of the "garbage receptacle" alone.

As a text for this discussion, let us quote the description of the "garbage receptacle" as found in a well known book on sanitation: "The garbage receptacle, especially when separation of true garbage is made, is usually one of the commonest forms of nuisance to be found. Every garbage can, unless it is emptied daily and thoroughly washed after emptying (which is practically never done) is in hot weather sure to be offensive. The annoyance from it can probably never be entirely gone away with, and it is only with great care and at some expense that it can be reduced to a minimum."

When we consider that practically all municipalities collect and dispose of garbage separately from other forms of refuse, we have exactly the condition as defined—a separation of true garbage. As a basis for this paper letters of inquiry were sent to all cities of 100,000 population and over in the United States and Canada. Replies were received from practically all of them. In the majority of the cities it is specified by ordinance or rule that the garbage receptacle shall be water-tight; shall be covered; shall have handles on the side of the can or on the cover; the size is designated from two gallons to two bushels; the materials from which the receptacle is to be made are specified; that it shall be kept in a place remote from dwellings or places on walks when the hours of collection are known; that the collector shall neither go up stairs nor down cellar for it, but that the can must be placed on the ground floor, etc., etc.

A very little analysis will show that the sanitary condition of the garbage can has been the principal factor in determining the cost of the collection of garbage. It may be set down as an axiom in the collection of garbage that the cost of collection increases with the frequency of service. The ability of a man and team to collect is not the amount he collects, but the number of stops, the distance of travel, and the number of cans he is obliged to handle, so that a daily collection would necessarily cost more than a collection every other day, and a weekly collection has arisen from and because of the sanitary condition of the garbage receptacle. Furthermore, undoubtedly, the sanitary condition of the garbage receptacle has had everything to do with making mere mention of the word "garbage" an offense. Immediately come to our minds that same noxious garbage can.

Garbage is almost universally described in the rules or ordinances of cities as the animal and vegetable waste from the kitchen, or as resulting from or growing out of the preparation of food. Garbage is subject to rapid decay, and this decay is hastened by three things—heat, moisture and flies, and yet what we call garbage is but an hour removed from our table—has been served to us as food.

The first step in the disposal of garbage is carrying it from the house and placing it in the can, and the question naturally arises, why should not this step be a sanitary one, and be made in the direction of educating the householder? Under existing conditions in almost every city, the can is as great, if not a greater nuisance, than the garbage itself. In the primitive days, the Indian, when the of-the housekeeper who will take a little thought for others. No garbage collector ever makes the routes without here and there coming upon a collection which causes tears to course their grimy way down his weather-beaten cheeks. This is because there lives at that place where he does his work a careful and thoughtful housewife. Every time she takes any garbage out, she wraps it carefully in an old newspaper or wrapping paper and ties it in a neat bundle. The result of this simple act is that the garbage collector raises his hands to heaven and blesses the place, and life for all concerned is sweeter and richer for this simple act of thoughtfulness.

It all rests with the collector. He has but to report to the department that the garbage is not properly drained and wrapped in paper, and no further service is rendered until the rule is complied with. If the householder then fails to properly care for his garbage or to have it cleaned up, he is brought into court and fined.

The operation of this rule has its economic as well as its sanitary value. The life of the can is very much prolonged. The garbage will roll out of the can in cold weather as well as in the summer; if it does not, the garbage is frozen, the can is not emptied, for the householder has failed to drain off the moisture. The collector is forbidden to carry or use a pick or crow-bar to dig out frozen garbage, so the can is not battered up. Garbage kept in this way is not a nuisance; it does not invite flies; does not need to be collected but once a week even in warm weather, thus making a great saving in the cost of collection. It follows naturally that garbage which is not foul in the can will not be so in the wagon or cart. The garbage can wagon or cart, if it is not kept clean, should be kept water-tight and when not so, should be discarded and a new one provided. A great deal of trouble has arisen from the tipping over of the cans by dogs. A recent invention in the shape of a small appliance on the cover makes the cover self-locking and the dog nuisance is a thing of the past.

The size of the can depends so much on the frequency of collection that it need hardly be discussed here. We need hardly say that a 20-gallon can will take care of the garbage of an average sized family for a week, and is easily handled by the collector. It is not necessary, even in the cold climate, to have different receptacles in the winter time, for if the rule regarding drainage of moisture and wrapping with paper is followed, a metal can is just as easily emptied and kept clean in the winter months as a wooden one. The question of location of the can is determined largely by the method of collection. In general terms it may be said that cans should be placed where they are most accessible to the driver.

The results of over three years of experience with this method of handling garbage in our city have been entirely satisfactory. At first it was laughed at as a tad of the department. We were asked when we would also require that the packages be tied with baby ribbon, but we persisted, and much more simple and enjoyable by

"Brightening the Life of the Garbage Man."

"While speaking along the line of housework, did you ever notice that the conscientious housekeeper is known by her garbage can? The gentleman who collects the garbage does not do it for pleasure, nor for his health, nor to help the community live a sweeter, sunnier life. Harsh necessity rules his business as it does yours.

"Now the garbage collecting business differs from the florist business in divers ways. But it can be made much more simple and enjoyable by the housekeeper who will take a little thought for others. Factional Differences at

RETAIN REV. KOVACH

The troubles at South Bend in the congregation of the St. Stephen's Catholic church regarding the pastor, which resulted in factional differences, are slowly being adjusted and it is now altogether probable there will be an unanimous approval of the choice of Bishop Alverding of Rev. Father Louis Kovach, of New York city, as pastor of the church.

With reference to charges against Father Kovach, which have been variously and darkly hinted at in a number of papers, it is stated on what seems the best of authority that it is a matter now nearly four years old, and that there is an affidavit in existence signed by the party who issued the reports, in which he admits that it was intended primarily as a blackmail scheme and completely exonerates Father Kovach from all blame. It is stated that when Hungarian members of the local church became more fully acquainted with the new pastor and the circumstances surrounding various reports circulated by unknown parties, they will become reconciled to his appointment. Already a conciliatory spirit is shown among the unruly members of the congregation and it will be but a matter of a few weeks until all hostility will have entirely disappeared.

To hear out the fact that there is nothing in the report of Father Kovach having trouble with his congregation in New York city, it has become known that the eastern priest has received a petition to return to his old congregation.

In conversation with a reporter Father Kovach stated that he had been in Rome City, the summer home of the bishop. He said that he apprehended no further trouble in keeping St. Stephen's church open in future. Father Kovach is going about the duties of his charge, although still a guest at the Oliver hotel.

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

The Little Rodent Renders the Usual Aid, but This Does Not Avail Him Later—The Peasant and the Ass. Quarrelsome Rhinos Lose by Fighting.

By M. QUAD.

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

ONCE upon a time the King of Beasts, who was taking a little walk in hopes to pick up anything fat that might have escaped from the dime museum, suddenly found himself in a hole. Many a politician has done that and got out with only the loss of his coat-tails, but in this case there was a big fish net to tangle things up and making climbing out impossible.

After biting and clawing and rolling over for half an hour, the Lion gave it up, and pictured to himself his skin lying on the library floor of a western beef packer. He had composed his nerves and was ready for the worst.

THE MOUSE APPEALS FOR HELP.

When a Mouse, who was on his way to a town meeting, stopped to see what the row was. He rose in the Lion's heart at once, and he said:

"You are but a little thing, but you have sharp teeth. Would you do me the favor to gnaw through this net in about fifty different places?"

"With all my teeth," replied the Mouse, and he fell to at once.

Cord after cord was bitten through, and at length the captive got a brace with his hind legs and snapped the remaining cords and was free. He was profuse in his thanks and promises, and it so happened that a week later he looked in at the open kitchen door of a peasant's cabin and saw the Mouse in a trap.

"It is my turn now to appeal to you," said the Mouse. "You see the situation I am in, and I feel sure that one bite of your strong teeth—"

"Oh, certainly—greatest of pleasure," replied the Lion, and, opening his jaws, he swallowed trap, mouse and all and sauntered away to observe:

"One good turn deserves another, but there is always a chance of overdoing it."

All Three of Them.

A Wayfarer who had reached the foot of a long hill set down to rest himself before going farther, and while he was taking his ease a Peasant appeared driving a loaded Ass before him. The beast plodded along willingly enough until he found the ground rising sharply under his feet, and then he stood still and refused to budge another foot.

The Peasant called him names and made threats and at length gave him a vigorous beating with a club, but all without avail. As a last resort the Peasant got behind the Ass and after an hour's hard work succeeded in pushing him and his burden up the hill. The Wayfarer had accompanied them at a slow pace and without comment, and as the brow of the hill was reached the exhausted and irritated Peasant turned on him with:

"You have seen it all and kept still, but now I suppose you have something smart to get off."

"Nothing extraordinarily good," replied the Wayfarer as he stopped to pick a pebble out of his shoe. "First, had you taken the other road and skirted the hill your Ass and his burden would have been two miles ahead ere this."

"Second, when your Ass balked you lost twenty minutes sweating in a language he did not understand and ten more in administering blows—he did not feel."

"Third, when you found he was determined not to proceed you could have removed his pack and carried it up without loss of breath, but you waited to push both Ass and pack."

"Fourth, having now arrived at the top of the hill and having done me the honor to ask my opinion of the affair, I will say—"

"You'll say that I'm another, of course?"

"No, friend. I would not put it that way. Rather would I observe that, having taken the wrong road and come three miles out of my way, I will now hobble downhill again and bring about a family separation."

"Gosh, but that was a close call for you!" exclaimed the Peasant to his Ass as he gave him a shove to start him homeward.

Uncle Josh Decides.

The Frogs and the Ducks had occupied the same pond for a year or two and got along without the slightest ill feeling, but when the water began to get low an old Drake called a public meeting of the Ducks and said to them:

"Being that we are the largest and need the most water to swim in, the Frogs should take themselves off to some other place. All in favor of giving the Frogs a hint will please say 'Aye'; contrary, 'No.' The ayes have it, and I will take it upon myself to do some talking at an early date."

The Frogs had meanwhile got wind of what was up and also called a public meeting. After considerable talk it was resolved that the Ducks ought to go. When notice was served upon each faction by the other there was a hot time, and it was finally decided to leave it to the farmer to say who should go and who should stay.

"He must surely decide in our favor," said the Ducks.

"It stands to reason that he must prefer us," replied the Frogs.

Both sides of the case were stated to Uncle Josh at length, and, after scratching his head for awhile, he said:

"I had never thought of it before, but now that you call my attention to it I perceive that you are both nuisances and ought to be abolished, and I'll use the pond to grow cattails and Kalamazoo celery."

Moral—There might be a far for a day or two, but the world could manage to run on if several of us great men died at once. It is when we appeal to others to flatter our usefulness that we find ourselves of no use at all.

The Two Rhinos.

It transpired that on a hot and sultry day two Rhinos were approaching a certain water hole by paths that intersected, and as they met one said to the other:

"You wait here until I have drunk my fill."

"I shall do nothing of the kind," was the prompt reply. "If there is any waiting to be done, you can do it."

"But I was the original discoverer of the water hole."

"And the Rhino that says I can't drink first is going to have trouble on his hands."

"Don't threaten me, old short legs, for I won't stand for it."

"And don't you bristle up to me! I have seen bluffers before!"

"I tell you, I shall drink first!"

"Not if I know myself!"

Thereupon a fight ensued, in which both were badly mauled. They were still at it when the Wild Ass came up from the water and said:

"Peace, gentlemen—peace. I have drained the hole to the last swallow!"

Moral—Greediness often ends in want.

DRESS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN.

(MRS. JANE FORD.)

6 SIZES
32 TO
42 BUST.

A very attractive little mode that will look well made up in almost any material is shown in the drawing. It is the shirt waist type of dress, but is cut along the very newest lines that make one appear tall and slender. The waist has two tucks over each shoulder that are stitched the full length of the waist, both back and front.

For a very stout person the waist will probably set easier over the bust if the other tucks are stitched only yoke depth. The pattern provides two sets of sleeves and is so marked that if a slightly low neck is preferred the goods may be cut away. The gored skirt is joined to the waist by a stitched belt of the material and a deep hem finishes the lower edge.

A stylish frock made after this model was of white linen with black detachable pongee collar and cuffs, overlaid with heavy white Irish croch. To copy the dress for the average person requires five and three-quarters yards of thirty-six inch goods.

Women should always be well dressed and to appear so does not require any great expenditure of money if one is clever in selecting styles and materials. The business woman must always be plainly dressed, but that does not necessarily rob her clothes of style, for it is often the girl who wears the simplest frock who is smartly gowned.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Letters from Prominent Druggists addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

S. J. Briggs & Co., of Providence, R. I., say: "We have sold Fletcher's Castoria in our three stores for the past twenty years and consider it one of the best preparations on the market."

E. W. Stucky, of Indianapolis, Ind., says: "To say that we have recommended and sold your Castoria for years is the best endorsement we can possibly give any preparation. It is surely full of merit and worthy of recommendation."

Henry R. Gray, of Montreal, Que., says: "I would say that your Castoria for children is in large demand and that it gives general satisfaction. Not being a secret nostrum many medical men order it when circumstances indicate the use of such a preparation."

W. G. Marshall, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "We have found your Castoria to be not only one of the best sellers in the medicine market, but a preparation that gives almost universal satisfaction; in fact we cannot recall having had a single complaint from any of our customers who have used it."

Owens & Minor Drug Co., of Richmond, Va., says: "It is with pleasure that we lend our endorsement to Castoria, a preparation of proven merit. During our long experience in the drug business we have had abundant occasion to note the popularity of the genuine Fletcher's Castoria, which we unhesitatingly recommend."

Brannen & Anthony of Atlanta, Ga., say: "No doubt if we were called upon to state positively what medicine we had sold for the greatest length of time, the greatest number of bottles sold, and the most satisfactory preparation to us and also to the customer, we feel that we could safely and conscientiously say Fletcher's Castoria."

Hints to the Housewife

The problem of the "cool menu" is the greatest consideration in the cuisine which must be brought to bear on the marketing for July. Tempting and dainty fruitarian and vegetarian dishes, crisp and cool salads, refreshing drinks which have as their basis the health preserving juices of the summer fruits form the ideal hot weather lunch, and with a little trouble, the fruits and vegetables in common use in the majority of households can be made to yield many novel and delicious results; nor are any special cooking appliances required for the greater number of these dishes.

It is wonderful, too, what a cool and inviting appearance a few prettily arranged flowers give to the summer luncheon or dinner table, and July presents an almost bewildering choice of blooms for this purpose. Carnations, cornflowers, half a dozen different kinds of fancy grasses, lilies, poppies, not to mention roses and sweet peas, are only a few of the flowers which are now to be obtained, and with which a most effective decorative scheme can be arranged at the cost of only a few cents.

No lack of variety can be complained of in the fruit supplies for July. Gooseberries, huckleberries, black and red raspberries are all on the market in such plentiful portions as to make them correspondingly cheap. Cantaloupes and watermelon should also be added to the warm weather menu. There is a good variety of vegetables to be had and vegetables should be given a large place on the family board at this season of the year.

Taken all in all the housewife should be able to run her house much more cheaply at this season of the year than at any other time.

Good Things to Eat

When a cool day comes along a delicious meat stew is a grateful relief from the cold dishes popular in hot weather. One of the easiest of these to prepare is a lamb stew, to which peas may be added. A dinner menu with this meat dish is given.

Lemon Bouillon.

Boil soup meat until very tender and season with salt. Into each bouillon cup slice very fine one hard boiled egg and three very thin slices of lemon. Strain the meat broth over these and serve hot or cold in jelly form.

Lamb Stew With Peas.

Put the lamb and a quart of water into a stew pan. When half done season to taste and add green peas. Stew slowly and when the peas are about done season with mint and parsley chopped fine, allowing them to simmer until ready to serve.

Browned Carrots.

Boil good sized carrots until perfectly tender, but not soft. Slice lengthwise, sprinkle highly with brown sugar and fry them in butter, browning first on one side and then on the other.

SATISFACTORY RESULTS

Domestic Bread

Lettuce and Nut Salad.

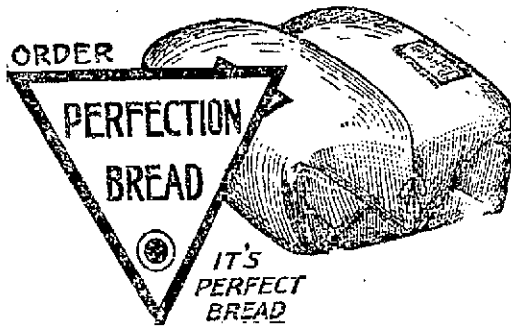

Shred crisp lettuce leaves and place them in a cup made of a tender leaf of head lettuce. Place on each portion of salad a half-dozen English walnut meats broken in halves and cover with a generous portion of mayonnaise dressing to which whipped cream has been added.

Ice Cream With Fresh Fruit.

For dessert serve fruit in season or vanilla ice cream in a circle of red raspberries, sliced peaches or apricots or shredded pineapple.

OVER NIAGARA IN A STEEL BARREL

Foolhardy Man Makes Trip and Escapes With His Body Whole.

HAD STRENUOUS TRIP

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 26.—Bobby Leach, 49 years old, of Niagara Falls, Ont., went over the Horseshoe falls in a barrel yesterday afternoon and still lives.

Though he was severely battered and bruised in the drop of 158 feet his injuries are only superficial and tonight he is able to be about his house.

This is the second time in the history of the river that such a feat has been accomplished. Mrs. Anna Edson Taylor of this city made the trip in a barrel on Oct. 24, 1901, and came out alive.

Harassed by the police on both sides of the river, Leach was forced to make his start from La Salle, two miles and a half above the cataract on the United States side.

Two rivermen took him in a launch to Navy Island, where everything was made shipshape and Leach was placed in the barrel.

Barrel Damaged by Rock.
It is a steel affair, eleven feet long with ends of wood. Leach was hung in a canvas hammock.

The barrel with its passenger was not adrift just off the mouth of Chippewa creek, hardly a mile above the brink of the Horseshoe, at 2:55 o'clock, and was quickly caught by the rush of the upper rapids. When 500 yards from the brink the barrel was caught in the tremendous current and raced to the chasm.

Within 200 yards of the brink it struck hard against a rock, and a large section of the wooden end was broken off. As the barrel reached the crest, at 3:12 o'clock, it swung straight and went plunging down into the abyss on its long axis.

Hardly thirty seconds elapsed until it was seen, a red speck, careening in the spume below the cataract.

Oxygen Revives Reckless Man.
With the terrific outrush of the Horseshoe, caused by high water, the barrel went floating down, tossing and tumbling in its passage towards the upper steel arch bridge.

Frank Bender, of Chippewa, swam out to it with a rope and caught the barrel by one of its handles. From that point the barrel was towed ashore. Leach was bleeding and appeared in a bad way, but once out of the barrel he raised himself and waved to the crowds that lined the bank.

He was badly exhausted and it was necessary to apply oxygen to revive him. He thought his leg was broken, but examination showed that it was merely sprained.

"I minded the tumbling about the falls more than the big drop," said Leach. "Like to killed me the way I was tossed about before I hit the bank."

DEMOCRATS AVOID USUAL WRANGLING

Nebraska Party Omits Any Mention of Leaders in the Platform.

TAFT FACTION RULES

Fremont, Neb., July 26.—The Nebraska democratic convention, which had been expected to place Nebraska democrats on record, so far as concerned their preference for a presidential candidate a year hence, failed to express itself on candidates yesterday. For the most part it was a peaceful gathering, once it was in session and the general harmony program which leaders of various factions had mapped out in advance was carried out without a greater hitch than to have an individual delegate ask the convention to go on record as to presidential candidates and being ruled out of order by the chairman.

Governor Harmon had a personal representative present at the convention, but he soon made it plain to the delegates that his principal business was to get acquainted and to look over the western field. No attempt was made to present the name of the Ohio governor for endorsement.

No Mention of Bryan.
The gathering was called under the state-wide primary law for the purpose of adopting a platform, the candidates for state offices, three supreme judges, two university regents and one railroad commissioner, being selected by direct vote of the democratic electors. Representatives of William J. Bryan and Mayor James C. Dahlgren, of Omaha, had labored long to come to an understanding and it was not till an agreement was reached to eliminate mention of all individuals that a common ground was found on which to stand.

Although a liberal minority had favored action on the presidential candidacy of Governor Harmon the matter was not brought up on the convention floor.

The platform is confined to national and state issues on which all factions are agreed. The name of William J. Bryan is not mentioned, nor is reference made to policies he has hitherto advocated. To reach an agreement on these points the document was revised no less than three times. It was adopted unanimously.

REPUBLICANS ENDORSE TAFT.

Lincoln, Neb., July 26.—Nebraska republicans, in convention here late yesterday, gave President Taft and his administration a strong endorsement and effectively blocked all efforts of a small band of insurgent delegates to arouse sentiment for Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, as a presidential candidate.

The insurgents lacked a leader and were outgeneraled by Victor Rosewater and his delegation from Omaha. Before the insurgents could get a chance to introduce resolutions from the floor the regulars had rushed through a motion providing that all resolutions should be referred to a committee, which was given power to draw up a final report.

Chairman A. W. Jeffers, of Omaha, then named a committee of seven members, of which five were strong friends of Mr. Taft and of which Mr. Rosewater was made chairman.

From this point the possibilities of the fight on the floor over the endorsement of Mr. Taft went glimmering. Despite their early announcement that they would not assent to a Taft endorsement on any conditions, the insurgents failed to make even a show of fight or objection when the platform resolution was finally presented. The resolution went through with a whoop by a rising vote.

BRIDE GETS COLD FEET.

Backs Out of Bargain to Be Married in a Tunnel.

Fort Collins, Colo., July 26.—Traveling from New York to Colorado to be married in the Laramie-Poudre tunnel, 5,000 feet under ground, and for so doing to receive a gift of $1,000, Miss Della Stevenson, of New York city, took one look into the dark tunnel chasm yesterday and promptly decided that she preferred the ceremony to be in Denver.

She gave up the right to claim the $1,000 offered by the tunnel company to the couple who would be married in the tunnel as a feature of the celebration yesterday of the completion of the work.

J. D. Alexander, to whom Miss Stevenson was married in Denver last night, is an electrician in the employ of the tunnel company.

CRAWLEY IS EXONERATED.

Board of Safety Dismisses the Charges Filed Against Him.

After hearing the evidence of Nathan Kaplan, proprietor of a shoe repairing establishment on East Main street, and a number of his employees, the board of public safety at its meeting last night dismissed the charges made against Patrolman Louis Crawley.

In the charges Kaplan set out that the officer told him he would "knock his d--- block off and pinch him" if he didn't quit calling up a girl employed at the patrolman's home. The telephone calls became annoying and twice the officer was awakened up during the day to answer calls from Kaplan. The board held the charges were not sustained.

Crawley was formerly an officer at the Temple theater and has been on the force about a year and has preserved a clean record.

Florence Hunt, 20 years old, shot in left hip.

Before the police overpowered the crazed man he had fired five shots from the doorway of a saloon. When taken to the police station he said his name was M. Husain and in his pockets were found two letters, one addressed to President Taft and the other to the local British consul. In his letters Husain asked permission to carry out his shooting rampage.

Hundreds of persons witnessed the shooting. Men, women and children fled in terror when Husain opened fire.

Women screamed and men rushed for

COUNCIL STARTS GARBAGE REFORM

Recommends Temporary Relief and New Reduction System.

CLEANED UP SLATE

Receipt of communication from two members of the special committee appointed to investigate garbage conditions in Fort Wayne marked a start by the city council at its session last night in the direction of immediate relief by the construction of a new furnace and a final solution of the problem by investigating further and ascertaining the best means of reduction with a view of installing an entirely new equipment in the future.

This communication was signed by Councilmen Wagner and Pinniger and received without comment by the other members. It set forth that the old plant now in use is bad, that relief can be obtained by the construction of a new furnace if a place is provided for coal storage and included the promise of the board of works and health department to obtain from the officials of other cities information as to the best way to dispose of the city's refuse. The members stated in the communication that the board had promised to look closely after collection in the future with a view of remedying the defects.

Dr. E. Van Swearingen opened a new campaign against the sale of fireworks in the city early, so that the dealers will not load up with a supply for the celebration of the Fourth of July next year. The ordinance prohibits the sale of fireworks of any kind and it was referred to the committee on rules, regulations and ordinances.

The members defeated the ordinance providing a levy for a free bed fund and the erection of a hospital after the levy had been out from five to two cents. Members voting against it said that it ought to be held open until time for the annual appropriations to be made in the fall.

Ordinances were introduced asking appropriations of $778 for the board of safety to buy supplies and light for the market house and $100 for the city sealer to hire a rig to carry weights to test 550 portable platform scales and fifty wagon scales and referred to the finance committee.

A contract for the construction of an additional street car track over the Spy Run bridge went to the rules, regulations and ordinances and the streets and alleys committee.

Ordinances were passed providing that garbage be wrapped in newspapers and that it be separated from broken glass, dishes and tin cans, changing the name of Force street to Webster park avenue, appropriating $1,500 for the maintenance of the public lavatory at the court house, providing for the erection of a gasoline pump system, providing that auto vehicles left standing on the streets at night be provided with a white light in front and a red one in the rear and changing the building code to permit only water tight vaults.

The measure providing that the current for the ornamental lighting system be paid out of the general fund was dug up at the earnest solicitation and passed with Bauer, Sarver and Kinder voting against it.

The committee of the whole asked the finance committee to report whether or not the $16,000 needed for a new asphalt plant is available and ordinances amending the weed law so that personal notice need not be given non-resident property owners and annexing new territory in the southeastern portion of the city were referred to the committee on rules, regulations and ordinances. The members were asked to see that the streets and alleys in the new addition be made coterminous with those that will connect with the territory.

The ordinance providing a franchise for the Abbott Sanitarium company to pipe water from the Nickel Plate tracks to property on East Berry street, was killed in committee. The controller's financial reports were referred to the committee on finance.

WHAT WILL YOU BUY THIS WEEK?

Colonial Theater.

At the Colonial theater today a benefit will be given to Troop L. Fort Wayne Boy Scouts. The boys are trying to raise a fund to pay expenses of a two weeks' outing in camp at Rome City. They will leave the city early Sunday morning and will pitch their camp on the Watkins farm, in the wooded section about three blocks south of the lake. Scout Commissioner Jackson and several of the older boys will leave on Saturday and prepare the grounds, and the boys will be assigned their tents, according to their companionship. The sanitary conditions of the camp will be made excellent and strict discipline will be maintained, a violation of any rule may lead the boy having the emblematic buttons removed from his uniform and escorted to the train and sent home.

Every boy must have a folding cot and besides must provide himself with an enameled plate and cup, knife, fork and spoon and towel, he should also have his own pocket knife and whistle. No firearms of any kind will be allowed in camp, and a violation of this rule will not be tolerated. The boys will be allowed to go in swimming only by permission of the scout commissioner and boating the same way, this will keep him in touch with the younger element, and this rule cannot be violated without punishment.

The pictures to be shown at the Colonial are special ones. One of the pictures, 'The City of Boys' shows a federation of groups of boys from various cities who camp for the summer in one place, each camp becomes a city ward with its councilman, who thus becomes a part of the city administration. It is not a reformatory scheme or a scheme of moral instruction. If a boy cannot play square, he is sent home and denied citizenship, not by adults, but by boys themselves. The city is for clean boys, who must meet responsibilities, temptations and who must assume responsibilities.

It places the boy in a city ruled by neither man nor woman, he runs his bank, daily paper, eats when he likes and sleeps when he desires, does whatever he pleases, enters business or politics, play or work, but does everything on the square.

These are the principles and activities of the Boy Scouts and if you are interested in this movement, you should see this picture and if you have not given the scheme the attention you should have given it see the picture and you will become interested. Bring the boys and the girls, and if you can't bring them, let them come anyway.

There will be a good program besides this picture, appropriate song and the Edison reels of 'The Star Spangled Banner.'

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.
Chicago, Ill., July 26.—European war risk caused a lively flurry today in the wheat pit here. There was considerable consequence a rapid upward jump in prices. Besides the unfavorable political conditions abroad and the resulting drop in British consols, the trade had also in view a disquieting prospect as to the future of the Russian crop. Furthermore, India sent word that there was yet no rain. For a while buying was on a big scale, shorts especially being eager buyers. The market, however, ran into many resting orders to sell at an advance and there was of necessity a reaction. Opening figures were 3c to 15c up. September started at 88 1/2c to 89 1/2c, a rise of 3c to 1 1/2c, touched 90c and fell off to 89 1/2c.

The fact that offerings were small permitted corn to ascend with wheat. On the bulge considerable unloading took place. September opened 3c to 3 1/2c higher at 40c to 41c, rose to 41c and then settled at 40 1/2c, and decreased to 39 1/2c.

Provisions took the upgrade, influenced by hogs and grain. First sales were 2 1/2c to 2 3/4c higher, with January delivery at 13 1/2c for pork, 38 1/2c for lard and 22 1/2c for ribs.

FORMER DESERTER TRYS TO ENLIST

Accepted at Army Station He is Recognized by Marine Officer.

SERVED PRISON TERM

Should you chance to drift into the army recruiting station and see Sergeant Soller seated behind his desk, immaculate in white duck or blue uniform, you might feel impelled to remark that he certainly had a soft job, but if you would occupy this desk for a period of thirty days you would come to the conclusion that a recruiting officer is far from being upon a bed of roses, and that he feels the prick of numerous thorns.

One of these thorns that makes the task far from easy drifted into the recruiting station last Friday, and as a result Uncle Sam is out of pocket several dollars for meals and lodging. Incidentally these same meals and the lodging served to benefit a former deserter from the marine corps, who served his time after being apprehended on the prison ship Southern at Portsmouth.

From the nondescript ones that amble into the recruiting office it is a difficult matter to pick the good and the bad and it is only the men worth while that Uncle Sam desires for his army. Probably the easiest of this class to tell is the professional hobo, who is merely looking for a few square meals for a few days, and has no intention of shouldering a gun. When Henry Fleming, of Chicago Junction, appeared in the recruiting office Sergeant Soller looked him over and as he appeared to be a likely piece of timber he put him through the preliminary examination and passed him. Fleming stated that he had not had any previous service in either the army, navy or marine corps, and of course his word on this point was taken and is in every case, except an occasional one. Fleming was around the recruiting office and the recruits' hotel until Monday, when he disappeared and his reason for disappearing took the shape of Corporal C. Hanna, in charge of the local marine recruiting station. The two came face to face in the recruits' hotel, and Corporal Hanna at once recognized Fleming as a former deserter from the marine corps, over whom he had stood guard on the prison ship Southern. Fleming did not stop to converse with the corporal, but realizing that he would probably be found out if he still persisted in enlisting in the army and would be liable to another term of imprisonment for fraudulent enlistment, he disappeared and has not been seen or heard of since. As he had only taken the preliminary examination and had not been sworn in, he is not answerable to this charge but is answerable to the charge of defrauding the government of meals and lodging, which in itself is a serious offense and liable to fine and imprisonment.

Girls' White Dress Parade at Robison Park Wednesday, August 2nd.

Function to Be More Elaborate Than Last Year—Diamond Ring of Exceptional Brilliance for the Queen—Diamond Ring for Each of the Three Honor Maidens—Ten Gold Bracelets and Ten Gold Neck Chains with Lockets for Twenty of the Marching Girls—The Queen and the Maids of Honor Will Ride in a Snow-White Chrysanthemum Chariot Drawn by Canopied Ponies—Prosecuting Attorney Albert E. Thomas Will Make the Presentation and Crown the New Queen.

Wednesday, August 2nd, is the day set aside for the Second Annual White Dress Parade. This day is nearer to the heart of Manager Williams than any other, and he hopes for sunshine, blue skies and balmy breezes.

The queen will be presented with a beautiful diamond ring, one of exceptional brilliancy and beauty of setting. Each of the three maids of honor will also receive diamond rings of smaller size and of lesser value. But large enough to thrill the heart of any maiden.

Ten gold bracelets and ten gold neck chains with lockets will be given to twenty of the marching girls.

Prosecuting Attorney A. E. Thomas, 11. A. Kephlinger, of the First National bank; Victor Russell, of the R. G. Dun company; Mrs. Frank D. Bond, Miss Dawson, of the News; Miss Naylor, of the Journal-Gazette, and Miss Clark, of the Sentinel, will be the committee to select the queen.

The queen will ride in a snow-white chrysanthemum chariot with her maids of honor. The parade will form at 2 p. m. and will be headed by the band. Last year the queen's carriage was empty, but Queen Vera, chosen last year's day, will ride in the throne chair surrounded by her waiting maids. As soon as the new queen is selected Queen Vera will abdicate in her favor. Six hundred and forty-nine girls were in last year's procession. Each one was given an American flag.

Mr. Williams has provided nine hundred flags for this year's function. A five-cent street car fare has been granted by the traction company for all school children, both boys and girls, and transfers will be given.

COMING TO THE FAIRY FRIDAY, FAUST.

It opens with a scene in Faustus' study. He is an old man, and shows that he is in despair, for he has searched science in vain for truth. Mephistopheles appears just in time to keep him from drinking the poison he has prepared. The appearance and the disappearance of this Demon, who comes and goes in a wink, always takes place in a flash of fiery smoke. It is cleverly accomplished and gives, as far as possible, an uncanny touch to his work. It explains his evil influence over Marguerite. In the second scene, Mephistopheles, in such a flash, changes himself into a dog, which follows the old philosopher out to the town and seems to be an evil influence presiding over his meetings with Marguerite. In this act, when he returns to his study, the fall of Faustus is accomplished. He reddens a quill in his wrist and signs the pact that in the last scene costs him his soul, while the angel Michael saves that of Marguerite.

One of the most notable scenes in the picture is where the Demon takes the old Faustus to the witch's cavern. The mysterious cauldron is boiling at one side. The old hag adds something to it and the smoke rises up in volume. Then she ladles out a cup of the beverage for the old philosopher and he drinks. The Demon waves his cloak before the graybeard, and when it falls we see a very handsome youth. This new Faustus then begins his pursuit of Marguerite, which ends in the death of her brother, her madness and the tragic scene in the prison which ends the story.
